The box

An interactive horror story by Roshanie Ali

image of an odd looking box

Ashlyn is exploring an abandoned house near the woods. She scoured the enitre house upstairs and found nothing. She decided to check the basement. While looking around, she found an odd looking box with small bones tied around it. She:

1. Opens the box. [[trapped.html]]

2. Takes the box home. [[home.html]]

As she opened the box, the air chilled. Her arms felt weak which made her drop the box. Suddenly, she felt something grab her foot. She looked down and saw a hand with sharp claws wrapped around her right foot. Before she could react, the hand pulled her into the box and it locked shut, trapping her inside forever.

Ashlyn left her room and went down to the kitchen for dinner. Her sister, Marilya, sneaked into her bedroom looking for a necklace. As she entered the room, she noticed the box and wondered if the necklace was inside. She picked up the box and opened it.

A few moments later, Ashlyn decied to go back to her room. She noticed that the door was slightly ajar and the lights were off. She sighed, realizing her sister entered without permission again. She walked into the room and switched on the lights. She noticed the box was on the floor and marched over to pick it up. She:

Ashlyn stormed over to Marilya's room to ask why she sneaked into her room. She pushed open her sister's room door but realized it was empty. She looked everywhere in the house but Marilya was no where to be found. Suddenly a weak voice was heard.

"Ashlyn....Ashlyn. I'm up here"

Ashlyn followed the sound of her sister's voice to her bedroom. She looked around and noticed that her sister wasn't anywhere to be seen.

"Mari...Mari, where are you? Show yourself," she called out. The room went silent.

After a few moments, she heard her sister call her name and the she realized the voice was coming from the box. Confused, she walked over to it and picked it up. She looked at the box. Her sister's voice was now loud. It was telling Ashlyn to open the box. She:

1. Opens it. [[trapped.html]]

2. Throws the box away. [[gone.html]]
